Philosophy

The central task of rehabilitation is the restoration of the mental and physical abilities of the patients. That is where we see our challenge.

Besides intensive work with the patients, our doctors, psychologists and therapists participate constantly in the further development of our indication-specific treatment programmes.

We are problem solvers for all rehabilitation partners- flexible, react quickly and have a good feeling for feasibility.

We focus on programmes specialised, structured, transparent and with a defined quality of results.

We treat each other with familiarity in the best sense of the word: open, fair, trustingly, enjoying the cooperative work.

We rely on competent employees- medically and economically efficient and continuously developing themselves further.

Employees

Working in our facilities are 1,400 employees. They form a team of numerous professional disciplines. Interdisciplinary cooperation forms the basis of our rehabilitative work.

Ca. 15% of the employees are active in the medical division, 30% each in therapy and care and 25% in other service areas.

The further education and training of our employees is an important element of our quality management. The effectiveness of our specialised treatment programmes with defined quality of results is significantly dependent on the competency of our employees.

Over 70% of our employees are women. Also, more than half of the managerial positions are occupied by women. As employees we support this development, e.g. by means of company kindergartens, by creating part-time positions at all levels, and by the transition to flexible working hours as much as possible.

Quality Rehabilitation

The quality rehabilitation

It is a specific, integral form of treatment for patients with multiple-caused chronic illnesses and following acute incidents.

It is based on a multi-professional team-informed assessment.

It actively involves the patient and adapts itself to the individual needs.

It uses scientifically founded, verifiable and effective methods.

It actively achieves a lasting improvement and stabilization of health.

It and thereby leads to a reduction of the costs of illness.

As founding members of the DEGEMED German Society of Medical Rehabilitation- we feel committed to this quality.

Our clinics regularly undergo a quality audit according to DIN EN ISO 9001 and the quality principles of the DEGEMED.

We cooperate closely both scientifically and in patient management with

- University of Cologne
- German College of Physical Education in Cologne
- Rhein-Westphalian Technical College in Aachen
- Medical College in Hannover
- Polytechnic Kassel
- University of Nuernberg Erlangen
- University of Leipzig
- College of Applied Sciences in Hamburg
- University of London
- University of Leiden, the Netherlands

Cooperation with well-known surgical hospitals exists, so that we can competently and with a high level of quality offer and manage first- and second-line operations as well as neurological and cardiologic operations with integrated rehabilitation.
